This song was written after having a talk with my good friend Joe Compito. Joe jokingly asked me if I was going to name it after him. A few weeks later while in the studio recording this song, I got a phone call that Joe had suddenly passed away. I was with him the day that he died. Well Joe, here's your song. I hope you like it.

This music is dedicated to Kaila Brooke Wooten, a healer, teacher and model for us all.

You are already making the world a better place.

Thank You. I Love You.

Also to Dora Woodard, George "Hebby" Woodard, Bud Davis and Joe Compito (Save me a seat!)

Well here we go again.

We have had so much fun making this music
and I hope that it comes through to you.

There are many different ideas and techniques
involved with each song as well as many fun stories.

I owe so much to Kurt Storey and all of the musicians for making this music come to life.

To find out song lyrics and more stuff,
you can visit my web site at www.victorwooten.com.

But for now just enjoy.

I Love You All!!!—Peace, Vic
